LAWYERS DELAY LICENSE COURT

And at Present Rate Cases May Drag along for Days. Disputes Method of Cross Examination. Only Two Witnesses.

Clashes between counsel constituted the features of the morning session of court in the hearing of the remonstrance against granting a license to the Washington Hotel. Frequent side remarks caused the court to interrupt with the instruction that, for the general welfare of the proceeding, the interjections should be discontinued. But two witnesses, and one of these, Charles H. Wilson, was recalled from Saturday's hearing, were examined during the entire morning.

When Mr. Wilson had been on the stand but a few minutes, Mr. Hersh objected to Mr. Keith's method of cross examination. He based his objection on the inability of a non-expert witness to answer a hypothetical question. This proposition was argued by the opposing counsel for over an hour and a half. The substance of Wilson's testimony was to the effect that Klinefelter, the proprietor of the hotel, was a proper person to conduct a license case.

The next and final witness of the period was Paul A. Martin. He testified that in his knowledge of the parties it was properly conducted. Interruptions by counsel were again frequent in both direct and cross-examination, until finally the court administered an admonition and, after apologizing, the testimony proceeded. At the present rate of procedure there is no telling when the hearings will be terminated.

At the fifth or sixth question in the examination of the first witness, which was "In the estimation of those who are of known temperate habits in the community, where have you place Bill Yingling?", the main objection of the morning, the admissibility of a hypothetical question, was raised. After a discussion lasting an hour and a half Mr. Hersh asked that the testimony, obtained upon questions of a like nature on Saturday, be stricken out for the following reasons:

Because the question was submitted in hypothetical form and because the witness was not an expert.

The hypothetical question submitted to the witness was improper because it was based upon undetermined facts.

The question was based upon facts not in evidence and the witness was non-expert.

It develops the defense in an improper manner.

The witness was finally instructed to answer the question and the objections were placed upon record. In a number of following questions the same objections were made.

At the opening of the session comparatively few people were on hand to listen to the proceedings but during the course of the morning the room gradually filled and the same interest appeared that was manifested in the hearings last week.

When the hearing was resumed after the noon recess Harvey A. Scott was called and testified that the hotel was properly conducted and necessary. The room was filled beyond its seating capacity. A number of the spectators were women.

Wrangling was again indulged in concerning the character of the questions asked. One half hour was consumed with this one witness, securing information that might have been ascertained in five minutes without interruptions.

George A. Hoffman, of Arendtsville, next testified to the necessity of the hotel for a class of trade that was not catered to by any other hotel in Gettysburg. He stated that good order was maintained and that Klinefelter was a fit person to conduct the business. Mr. Stable, who is associated with Mr. Keith in the trial, conducted the cross-examination. The objections that have been delaying the proceedings ceased at this point and the examination was concluded without interruption.

George Strasbaugh was called and said the place was properly conducted and that the proprietor was a fit person. He stated upon cross-examination that he had seen drunken people there but had not seen them buy drinks at the time.

After hearing Mr. Strasbaugh a

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICIALS MEET

Brave Unfavorable Weather and Come here to Confer with Heads of State Departments Regarding Work.

Wintry blasts held no terrors for the earnest Sunday School workers of Adams County and a representative audience of officials and teachers were present this morning in St. James Chapel to greet the squadron of State superintendents here in their tour through Pennsylvania. Included in the number of visitors are the following:

W. G. Landes, State Secretary; Mrs. M. J. Baldwin, Elementary Division Superintendent and head of the Missionary Department; Preston G. Orwig, Secondary Division Superintendent; B. S. Forsythe, Adult Division Superintendent; Rev. Charles A. Oliver, Teacher Training Superintendent; W. D. Reel, Home Department Superintendent, and Miss Martha Robinson, Rural Department Superintendent.

The morning and afternoon were taken up with a discussion of many problems confronting the county workers. At noon an appetizing luncheon was served in the social rooms of the church and dinner will be served this evening at the same place.

Special interest attaches to the meeting to-night in the auditorium of the church, and all the Sunday Schools in town, as well as those in the country, are expected to send creditable delegations.

W. G. Landes is considered by many the best general secretary in the international field which includes the United States, Dominion of Canada and Mexico. He is widely known over the whole field. The international association office in Chicago has tried several times to add him to its regular force but Mr. Landes is a Pennsylvania boy and so far has preferred to stay in his home state. Since he has been general secretary of this state wonderful strides forward have been made in the Sunday School work of Pennsylvania.

Among these is the "front line standard of efficiency" which had its inception in this state association work and has spread to every state and into every denomination becoming so popular and accomplishing so much good in the Sunday Schools that the county associations have urged a still higher standard and a few years ago another, known as the "advanced standard" was placed before the Sunday School workers. Already twenty two counties have stepped over the "front line" mark and are now in the "advanced" rank.

The progress of the work under Mr. Landes has been so great that Pennsylvania is the first state to own its own office building; the field force consists of six people in addition to Mr. Landes and an office force of six.

GETTYSBURG MAN HURT IN RIOT

Disfigured when Struck by Club or Stone during Foreigners' Fight in Front of Church. One Killed in Affray.

Trooper Ralph Tipton, son of R. Lee Tipton, of East Middle street, was severely hurt in the riot at DuPont on Sunday when he, with a number of other members of the State Police Force, charged into a mob of infuriated Poles. Tipton is badly disfigured by an ugly cut on his face and chin. The story of the riot as told in the Associated Press dispatches is as follows:

Pittston, Pa., Jan. 17.—One man was killed, two, including a state trooper, are dying; seven, including Captain Pitcher, Corporal Carlson and Trooper Stevens, of the state constabulary, were injured seriously, and scores of others battered and bruised in a clash at DuPont between the troopers and a mob of over a thousand persons, members of the Polish Catholic church.

It was the worst riot in the coal fields since the constabulary has been stationed at Wyoming.

The dead: George Greizer, aged fifty; died five hours afterward with bullet wounds in the thigh and abdomen. The injured: Roff Hunter, of Carlisle, state trooper, unconscious, dying of a compound fracture of the skull. Joseph Plisch, married, wife and six children; in critical condition with a bullet wound in his arm. Captain Pitcher, of state constabulary; face badly battered and head cut. Corporal Carlson, of Kingston, state trooper, arm broken. Ira Stevenson, of Butler, state trooper; fractured shoulder blade. Robert Platon, Thomas Metcalfe, Albert Heath and Thomas Bettner, cut and bruised about the face and arms.

The riot grew out of sectional strife at the DuPont Polish Catholic church, one faction of which fighting Bishop Hoban's appointment of Rev. Francis Sownowski, as pastor about a month ago.

Trouble ensued when the pastor first attempted to take charge and the matter was brought before Luzerne county court. Eight members have been held for contempt of court. President Judge Fuller instructed Sheriff George Buss to take charge of the affairs and give police protection to the pastor, when the church was to be reopened after having been closed three weeks.

When Sheriff Buss, accompanied by Captain Pitcher and a squad of state troopers mounted, escorted the pastor to the church they found the edifice occupied by the Milligan faction and the edifice surrounded by over one thousand men and women.

Most of the men were armed with clubs, many of which was studded with small nails. Others had their hands full of stones. The women had bottles of ketchup. The sheriff and troopers attempted to enter the gates and Sheriff Buss called for the crowd to disperse.

A decisive yell and a shower of stones was the reply. Father Sownowski became disheartened and refused to take further steps to get in, but Captain Pitcher sent to the police barracks at Wyoming for additional help and twenty troopers hurried to the scene in automobiles.

Captain Pitcher then insisted on the mob vacating the premises, and another shower of rocks followed. The police then demolished a portion of the fence, and led by the mounted officers, charged into the mob, but the rioters stubbornly held their ground, meeting the charge with clubs, stones, mustard and pepper.

Inch by inch, however, they were driven back. As fast as the police subdued the rioters they were hustled into the church basement and held as prisoners by the deputy sheriff. When finally the mob was dispersed, the injured were taken to Pittston hospital. Auto trucks were summoned from Pittston and hauled seventy-eight rioters, many of them nursing bruises, from their temporary prison, to the county jail.

He was born in Mount Joy township and moved to Gettysburg about twenty years ago where he has resided since that time. During his residence in Mt. Joy township he was a farmer.

IDENTIFIED BRASS

Fairfield Man Called upon to View Stolen Property.

L. G. Flohr, of Thurston, an overseer of the Western Maryland railroad, and John Baker, of Fairfield, engineer at the pumping station at Glen Afton Springs, Pa., Mar. went to Waynesboro Saturday and identified the brass fittings that were taken from the pumping station last week.

The fittings are in the possession of Chief Staley, of Waynesboro, and were found to be those stolen George Pryor, charged with the theft, is at present in the Chambersburg jail serving a 30 days' sentence for being drunk and disorderly.

The fascination which brass has for a thief or thieves at Pen Mar has been proved very great. Somebody broke into the Washington Cliff house, along the High Rock road, Friday night, and tore the brass spigots from the water pipes in that large hostelry.

Chief Staley has told the railroad officials that if they want Pryor he will be surrendered to them for trial in Hagerstown. If Pryor demands requisition papers some time will be occupied in this legal procedure and the man may remain in the Chambersburg jail for a week or longer.

WANT TO WORK

East End Residents will Labor for Railroad without Pay.

So anxious are the people of East Berlin and vicinity to see communication re-established there that the directors are being besieged by citizens offering their services free for the work of relaying the line over that portion where the tracks were torn up. President Glatfelter has on file the names of fifteen men who desire to do the work without asking any recompense.

At a meeting of the directors held last Thursday night the committee on relaying track was instructed to proceed with the work as soon as the weather will permit.

It is expected, accordingly, that the early spring will see much activity along the old line in the eastern part of the county and that it will not be many months before the trains will be running on a regular schedule, carrying passengers and freight.

TEACHERS MEET

And Considered Various Matters Concerning School Work.

The School Principals' Association of the county held their annual mid-winter meeting in the High School building Saturday. In the morning there were two round table conferences, one by the grammar school teachers and the other by members of the various high school faculties. All participated in the afternoon meeting. Miss Alice Longsdorf read a paper, and Miss Cope, Prof. Lehman, and Prof. Mummert were appointed a committee to suggest a plan for adjusting the courses in the high schools of different classes, so that pupils could go from one school to another without losing time by having to make up work.

SPEND DAY ABED, DODGE SICKNESS

Rest Often Sufficient when Danger Threatens. Dr. Dixon Says, and Advises Little Food at Such Times.

Spend a day in bed, now and then, is the advice of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon in his weekly health talk in which he says:

"There are times when everyone realizes that they are on the verge of an illness. The symptoms vary according to the individual case but whether it be a cold, grip, or exhaustion, nature usually has a way of sounding a warning which is not to be mistaken.

"When danger signals are thus displayed for our benefit in this fashion there is one course of action which will often prove effective, even at the eleventh hour. A day in bed in a well ventilated room with an extremely light diet is frequently sufficient to save one from a severe illness.

"Rest is often one of nature's simplest and most effective aids to healing and if taken in time may be warranted far superior to its therapeutic effect to any quantity of drugs taken after the damage is done.

"An extremely light diet or a fast for twenty four hours serves the same purpose in giving the digestive organs a needed rest under such conditions. A day or so in bed adhering to the resolve not to allow the ordinary annoyances and responsibilities of life to interfere with one's complete relaxation would often be of more value than traveling long distances for a change of climate.

"There are some people who boast of their ability to keep going regardless of the warnings which nature serves in times of danger. At times they may be successful avoiding the penalty but usually they have to 'pay the piper.' Better a short voluntary rest now and then than one enforced by a profound disturbance of health as the result of disregarding nature's warning."

GREEK WEDDING

In Gettysburg and Supper for All the Guests Afterward.

The first Greek wedding which ever took place in Gettysburg was solemnized here Sunday evening at the home of Aleck Pettis, on Railroad street, when Miss Ftehere Kouchak and John Pettis were married by Rev. J. M. Vasilas, of Reading. About fifty persons attended the wedding, half of them being from out of town. The other members of the wedding party beside the bride and bridegroom were Miss Mary Nicholas, of Reading; George Straw, Mr. and Mrs. Teotis, of Hanover; Gust Themus and Paul Nicholas. After the ceremony all enjoyed supper at the Crystal Lunch Room.

Mr. Pettis is one of the proprietors of the shoe shining parlor on Chambersburg street. The bride came from Filia, Greece, and arrived in this country several weeks ago. They were sweethearts in their native land before Mr. Pettis came to this country.

For Bronchitis, Painful Cough,
Whooping Cough And Colds

Cheapest Remedy Made at Home—128 Teaspoonsful for 50 Cents

When in need of a remedy for the treatment of Bronchial Affections, such as Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Stomach Coughs, Colds or Hoarseness, don't simply ask the druggist for a "Cough Medicine" but get the best. Tell him to give you Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expecto-rant, instead of being induced into buying something else purely on the strength of some testimonials or the exaggerated claims of the manufacturer. The same "Money Back" guarantee goes with every bottle of this remedy sold by The People's Drug Store as does with Dr. Schiffmann's famous Asthmador and your money will be refunded, if it does not give perfect satisfaction; in fact, even more, if it is not found the best remedy, besides securing the guarantee these druggists give, it will likewise be found the most economical to use.

for the reason that one bottle (50 cents) makes a full pint (128 teaspoonsful) of the most excellent cough medicine, after being mixed at home with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water. One bottle will probably, therefore, be sufficient for a whole family's supply the entire winter, same quantity of the old, ordinary ready-made kind of medicine would cost between $2 and $3. It is prepared from strictly harmless plants, contains absolutely no chloroform, opium, morphine or any other narcotic or injurious drug as do most cough remedies, and it can therefore be given to children with perfect safety. It is pleasant to take and children are fond of it. Absolutely no risk whatever is run in buying this remedy under the above positive guarantee. R. J. Schiffmann, Prop., St. Paul, Minn.

FIRE BOLT SENDS TOWN TO KNEES

Meteor Explodes Before Bank and Church.

BEG MERCY FOR SOULS

Many Fearing End of the World Fall Prostrate Before Pastor, Returning From Services.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 17.—Residents of West Alexander, were roused from their beds by the explosion of a meteor, which struck the earth in the center of the town's business district. Terror-stricken, the inhabitants ran out, fearing the world was coming to an end and not knowing what dire calamity had befallen.

The heavenly visitor had fallen in front of the West Alexander National bank, and the next thought of the towns people was that an attempt had been made to rob the bank, which, with several other buildings, had been damaged by the explosion. Posses were immediately organized and a search began. Father Weber, of St. Joseph's cathedral, who is something of an astronomer, solved the mystery of the meteor and the posses dispersed.

Rev. J. G. Deeds, pastor of the Methodist church, was returning from a country prayer meeting when the meteor fell, and was probably the only witness. People running from their homes in wild alarm found him standing near the scene of the explosion, and they began to fall on their knees in prayer, begging the clergyman to implore mercy for their souls. The more practical-minded, however, saw the damaged front of the bank, and immediately assigned a more earthly and highly criminal cause for the explosion, and the hunt for the bank robbers began.

When it was found that other buildings, the Methodist church included, had been damaged, the terror began again with renewed vigor.

It was not until Father Weber made his investigation that calm took the place of storm in the little town. He explained that the head of the meteor rushing through the air had caused it to explode when it struck the earth.

Many meteors have fallen in the Ohio valley in the past, but none of them stirred up half the excitement which this one did. Some of the townspeople are still unconvinced that the falling of the meteor is not the omen of a terrible catastrophe to come during 1916.

FAMILY JAR 40 YEARS OLD

Mrs. Ware was complaining witness against Betsy Leebie, whom she found installed in her home as "chief cook" when she returned from a visit with relatives at Wilkes-Barre. Her husband, she said, was intoxicated on an upper floor. Betsy resisted ejection by the indignant wife and was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. ## ACQUIT SLAYER OF GAME PROTECTOR

Experts Say Shooting May Have Been Accidental.

Mauch Chunk, Pa., Jan. 17.—Francis Thomas, of Drifton, charged with the murder of Game Protector Joseph McHugh, of Weatherly, on Sunday afternoon, November 7, 1915, was acquitted and discharged immediately when the jury came into court with a verdict of not guilty.

The defense based its case on the testimony of gun experts, who, after examining the weapon with which the game warden was shot, declared it to be defective. It was testified that the least pressure on the trigger, or even contact with the defendant's hunting coat might have resulted in the discharge of the gun.

The commonwealth had asked for a verdict of murder in the second degree.

There was but one witness of the shooting. Thomas' aged parents were in court during all of the trial, which lasted four days, two of which were consumed in selecting a jury. The state game commission, through the assistant attorney general, was represented at the trial.

FIRE NEAR GUNCOTTON

Close Call to Great Disaster at Powder Plant.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 17.—The cotton storage plant and tank houses of the Atlas Powder company, at Mt. Carbon, were destroyed by fire and Pottsville firemen had a hard battle to keep the flames from the acid house and magazine, where $120,000 worth of gun cotton was stored.

Although officials claimed this was in a non-explosive state, the vast crowd that watched the fire creep toward the magazine did not need urging to stand back. All the efforts of ten firemen were devoted to saving this part of the plant, the remainder being allowed to burn.

The fire originated from spontaneous combustion in the cotton-soring house, which had just been filled to the roof with a fresh supply of cotton, all of which was destroyed.

The company is a subsidiary plant of the Duponts and furnishes high explosives for the French army.

Children Were Hurled From Their Arms, Escaping With Slight Injuries.

Tyrone, Pa., Jan. 17.—Blinded by a snowstorm, John Staich, thirty-three years old, and his wife, Mary, thirty-two, were caught in a cut on the Pennsylvania railroad near Union Furnace and instantly killed by a freight train. The husband was carrying his four-year-old daughter, Mary, and the wife the two-year-old daughter, Annie, at the time, but the children escaped with comparatively slight injuries. Mary suffered a broken leg, and Annie received lacerations of scalp. The children are in an Altoona hospital. The Staichs had been to Tyrone shopping, and returned to Union Furnace on the local train. They took the shortest route to their home through the cut. The wind was whirling the fine snow in their faces. Hearing No. 21 approaching, they stepped onto an adjoining track and were run down by the freight.

TO TURN PREACHER TO COMBAT SUNDAY

Poet to Enter Ministry to Combat Revivalist's Methods.

Philadelphia, Jan. 17.—Addressing a meeting of the newly formed Society for Promoting Christian Thought, Donald Evans, the poet, has announced that he will enter the Episcopal ministry to combat the Billy Sunday type of revivalism.

"I have no criticism to make of Billy Sunday personally," said Mr. Evans. "He is doubtless a very sincere man. I do not know him, but I feel his methods are radically wrong. A menace to the religious sense in man. Emotionalism in religion is dangerous. Sensationalism is gross. "Christ showed us that in preaching the word one must never stoop to vulgar expedients to win converts. I ask you, do you think Christ would have acted like a vaudeville actor to get 'trail bitters'?"

"The world is eager for religion today. But a minister must do his work in a dignified way, else he cheapens Christianity. I have a social service program which I shall undertake in a small community, and I know that within a year we can have the community cleaned up socially, economically and spiritually."

HERMIT NEAR STARVATION

Though Worth $100,000 He Was Dying for Lack of Food.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 17.—Joseph Raymond, "the hermit of Escher street," and the owner of several rows of houses which net him a comfortable income, was saved from death by starvation when city officials forcibly removed him to Mercer hospital.

Raymond had been living without food, clothing and fire. For some days his neighbors had missed him and investigation showed the man's plight. He would not have lived another twenty-four hours, physicians say. He is said to be worth fully $100,000, but for years has lived like a pauper.

GERMAN EMPEROR GOES UNDER KNIFE

Vatican Reports Operation on Kaiser a Success.

Rome, Jan. 17.—According to reports received by the Vatican, Emperor William underwent an operation last Thursday.

Although the operation is said to have been successful, a week must elapse before his majesty may be pronounced out of danger.

Many reports have been received here for the past month as to the emperor's health. Some from allied sources reported the emperor emperor in a serious condition and that members of his family had been summoned to Berlin. These despatches said he was suffering from cancer and that a serious operation was necessary, and that the German ruler had agreed to submit to the operation. Berlin, however, through Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, officially denied all reports of the serious illness of the German emperor and declared that he was suffering only from a boil and that he had been confined to his room for a few days only. Later despatches said the emperor was recovering and that he was walking around the royal grounds.

HISTORIC PAPERS BURNED

Documents by Washington Lost in Ruins of College Building.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 17.—William Smith Hall, the main building of Washington college, was wrecked by fire.

So rapidly did the flames spread that all the archives, including many historic documents, some of them in the handwriting of George Washington, were burned. The building cost $75,000.

William Smith hall bore the name of the first president of Washington college, Rev. William Smith, afterward provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

The college had its name destroyed by the legislature "in honorable and perpetual memory of his excellency, General Washington," who received from it the degree of doctor of laws.

LAWYERS DELAY LICENSE COURT

recess was taken until C. Wm. Beales was found and placed on the witness stand. He declared that, so far as he knew, the place was properly conducted.

Of the witnesses examined in the Hotel Washington case Saturday afternoon all declared Oliver Edmelfelter to be a person fit to conduct the place, a man of good character and temperate. Fred McCallum, Me. Va. Dyke, S. Mc. Eicholtz, Albert Rodisill, Edward Schriver, and Charles H. Wilson, testified that they regarded the licensed hotel there a necessity. Mr. Schriver, who deals extensively in cattle, spoke of the place as a hotel where a working man could go and get a meal without being asked to put on his coat and indicated it was a great convenience to him and to his men at times when they stopped there while driving cattle to town.

N. L. Minter said that he regarded a hotel more as a luxury or as an accommodation than as a necessity, but that if any one were entitled to license Klinefelter had as much right to it as any other man. Asked about conditions at the hotel on colored excursion day Mr. Minter told of the general drinking. Others also told of the drinking there on such days Charles H. Wilson among them. Mr. Wilson was also asked whether the frequenters of the Washington House were all colored men or poor white people and he declared that some of the best men in town were accommodated there, naming four or five. On cross examination it developed that they were served in an up-stairs dining room and not at the bar.

James C. Cole and Burgess Eicholtz both testified to the good character of the petitioner, Mr. Cole stating that the license was as necessary as any in town. William Hersh Esq., the petitioner's attorney, laid special stress on the fact that this is the only European hotel in town.

NEW SHELL OF BRITISH PROVES SURE DEATH TO GERMAN U BOATS

Doesn't Ricochet on the Water and Is Effective When It Just Misses Its Mark.

Its Accurate Time Fuse Makes It Possible to Determine the Exact Depth of Explosion.

WHEN the list of new ships to be built for the United States navy was published recently it is probable that a great many people were very much surprised to see that besides a number of submarines there was a relatively large proportion of battleships.

"Surely," they said, "if there is anything the war has shown it is that battleships are useless against submarines. Why, they don't even dare to leave harbor unless they are guarded by a flotilla of destroyers."

And yet there are some very clever men in the navy department who have not decided to build those battleships without a good deal of reason. Moreover the wonderful submarine blockade that was to starve England to submission in three months seems to have been a considerable failure. The English are not started by any means. In fact, they are carrying on quite a little blockade of their own in the Baltic, while some terrible new German submarines lie rotting in the North sea. And the reason for their failure is the reason why America, like some other nations, continues to build battleships.

That reason, according to information which has now reached this country, is the British submarine shell.

When the submarine problem began to press on attention the British tried a number of devices. They planned out likely spots, as searchers do in the run of a hare; they disguised patrol boats as peaceful fishing craft; they sent out a host of light power boats with whetted light cannon in the bows to scout over every yard of the sea and follow the submarines like nose quitoes. But the problem remained unsolved.

Submarines were caught, of course, a good many of them, but that didn't mend the fact that Britain's great fleet hardly dared to sail the open seas, and the British couldn't forget that in the big fight in the North sea their battle cruisers had been forced to turn and run from their burning and almost defenseless enemy by the mere plumes of two or three big battleships "death riding" across the surface.

What was needed was some effective way for the battleship to defend her self-to strike at her enemy directly without having to depend on destroyers or reduce her speed and maneuvering capacity to an appalling extent by the use of cumbersome underwater structures to resist torpedoes.

Shells Ricocheted on the Water.

After all, the real work of the dread naught is to destroy the enemy's big ships. To do this she must first herself from the menace of the submarine. The trouble was that when a submarine was submerged it was impossible to hit it. It could sneak along twelve feet below the surface, watching the battleship through its periscopes, and unless the battleship was lucky enough to shoot away the periscope she hadn't one chance in a hundred of escaping the torpedo. Those twelve feet of water were like an elastic cushion off which the big shells fired at a flat trajectory, bounced—ricocheted in the technical word—like so many tennis balls. As for hitting the periscope, one couldn't even see it save at short range, and short range meant the risk of a torpedo with its thousand pounds of gunpowder.

So the British set themselves to find a shell that would not bounce.

Right at the beginning of their experiments they made one important discovery. A shell exploding under water has several times the effect of a shell exploding in the air. Thus forty pounds of lyddite exploded at a depth of twelve feet would smash like an eggshell the sides of a submarine or an eggshell the away or would rip off the propellers and rudder of a battleship. At fifty feet even the battleship hull would be very badly damaged.

They next found that if they made the nose of the shell of a certain shape instead of ricocheting along the water it would dive when it touched the surface, even though fired with a flat trajectory. If it was fired at a submarine it would plunge right at it the moment it struck the water.

But another difficulty still remained. Instead of exploding by concussion or striking its target or by a time fuse set to act a given time after leaving the gun, it was necessary to have a shell that would explode at a certain depth below the surface so as to deal with the submarine most effectively.

One could not hope to make a bulletproof underwater shell, but one did not need to. Four hundred pounds of gunpowder would smash any submarine within a thousand feet. All that was wanted was the explosive at approximately the right depth quite irrespective of time or concussion.

At this point the memory of one of the experimenters came to his aid. He remembered that years ago a somewhat primitive automobile he then owned had suffered from the stoppage of its gasoline feed pipe, and he had found that while the engine would not run freely along a small tube under atmospheric pressure, if a thin wire be placed in the tube capillary attraction would draw the liquid along the wire quite as freely as it is needed. Not only did he cure his automobile with this device, but he patented it and sold the patent to a firm of aeroplane builders.

A Fuse "Fired" by Water.

That idea of water trickling along a tube was the basis of his new fuse. Instead of the old fuse burning powder, the new one caused the explosion by the combination of water with a pinch of potash. The sea water trickled along the wire down the tube to the potash. When it reached it the explosion followed, and, best of all, experiments showed that the depth at which the explosion occurred was in exact relation to the length of the tube. Thus with a short tube the shell had time only to dive six feet before the explosion came, while with a tube twice as long it had plunged twelve feet before the water mingled with the potash.

That practically gave the experimenters what they wanted. After a few more tests they knew how to set the fuse to explode at a given inch of depth, and at the same time another device prevented the shells from exploding by accidental or deliberate flooding of the battleship's magazine where the shells would be stored.

Next the British and Italian navies had some more experiments on a large scale in quiet, secluded spots, and then the British went out into the North sea and cleared away all the German submarines. That is said to be the reason why we are still building battleships in this country and why German newspapers would rather talk about the Balkans than the submarine blockade.

The exact method of the clearing away process was borrowed by the British navy from that almost equally efficient institution, the French field artillery. The French gunners had invented a system of massed firing equal in effect to assaulting and repulsing an attack, called the "curtain of fire." They simply plastered with shells the arc of the circle behind the enemy's troops, thus making a barrier of steel and molten as well as fire, through which neither reinforcements nor reserves could pass. Then their own infantry was free to attack the enemy so shut off from help.

"Curtain of Fire" For Submarines.

The British navy turned the curtain of fire on the German submarines. As the big ships advanced boldly into German waters the submarines came on in droves to destroy them, thinking that the British had suddenly been strangled.

Then at a couple of miles range the battleships let fly the "curtain of fire" in all directions from their big guns. Soon there was a circle of submarine shells sinking to their appointed depth. The crushing submarines met exactly the same fate as the German reserves on land that try to pierce the French curtain—they were simply blown to pieces.

There was no deliberate aiming at any particular submarine any more than the French "seventy-fives" aim at a particular group of men in the advancing enemy. Each gunner poured a stream of shells at one given point of the circle until the order to cease fire was given. After that there was nothing to do but try and rescue a few of the survivors.

Thus the battleship came back to its own, and doubly so, for not only was the submarine menace removed, but that yet more impenetrable barrier, the mine field, could be pierced by the same method.

A "fire curtain" of submarine shells exploding in the midst of mines at the exact depth at which they were moored must infallibly detonate the whole lot. Whether the British have yet applied this plan remains a secret, but that they can do so and at any moment is a certainty.

Which means that the Baltic and the German coast are far more subject to British attack than they were before German submarines were making their wholesale bags of British merchant men in the channel and the North sea.

So, as in land battles, it all becomes a question of munitions. The fleet that has an unlimited number of submarine shells can clear its way through any obstacle.

But there is one additional point to be remembered. The British have those shells now; the Germans may get them later if they have time.

WALK 25,000 USELESS MILES

College Professor Estimates Daily Loss Motion of Housewives in One City. Seattle housewives daily take 25,000 miles of unnecessary steps, which might be eliminated by attention to the arrangement of furniture and utensils and the organization of movements, according to Professor Frederick A. Osborn, head of the department of physics at the University of Washington.

"The kitchen should be run under as efficient a system as has been found indispensable in the modern factory. Raw material, after it comes in through the kitchen door, should be handled in progression, without any retraced steps, until it reaches the dining table."

COLLEGES TAKING UP PREPAREDNESS

General Wood Principal Speaker at Wesleyan Banquet.

YALE'S LIGHT ARTILLERY.

Influential Alumni Strongly Favor Military Training at Wesleyan for All Students as a Requirement for Graduation—Propose Signal Corps Under Command of Regular Officers.

General Leonard Wood was the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the New York alumni of Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., held in New York on Friday evening, Jan. 14, under the auspices of the Wesleyan University club of New York, at which were gathered over 500 alumni and friends of the university. The subject of General Wood's address was "The Colleges in Relation to Military Training." The questions which he discussed were the principal topic for all the other speakers. President William Arnold Shanklin of Wesleyan and Hon. Arthur L. Andrews, corporation counsel of Albany and member of the Wesleyan class of 1875, also spoke.

The idea of discussing the matter of preparedness at this occasion was developed by a number of influential alumni who are strongly in favor of military training at Wesleyan for all students as a requirement for graduation. A joint committee of the trustees and faculty now has the matter under consideration. Colonel John Gribble of Philadelphia, aid on the military staff of Governor Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, and a Wesleyan trustee, is chairman of the committee; Fogner Public Service Commissioner John E. Enstis, member of the Lafayette Post, No. 140, G. A. R., Wesleyan trustee and member of the Wesleyan class of 1874, is another member of the committee. Hon. Stephen H. Olin of New York city, formerly colonel and chief of staff of the first brigade, New York national guard, Wesleyan trustee and member of the Wesleyan class of 1866, although not a member of the committee, is keeping in close touch with its deliberations.

The movement for military training in colleges has already started at nearby Yale, where a light artillery corps is being organized. Some alumni favor the proposal to equip a signal corps at Wesleyan, under the command of regular army signal officers, who will be detached and assigned for that particular service. The student body at Wesleyan now numbers over 500, which is about the right size for the maintenance of a signal corps in all its different branches. The physical and electrical laboratories at Wesleyan can, with comparatively little alteration, be extended to meet even the exacting requirements of the regular army signal service. Already two wireless stations have been erected and now are in operation at Wesleyan.

An army officer of high rank who has recently visited Middletown for the purpose of examining the topography of the city and surrounding territory and the Wesleyan equipment reports that both are more than adequate to warrant the undertaking of the signal corps experiment. He further states that the athletic field and the Fayerweather gymnasium, both immediately adjoining the campus, are well adapted for practice in the fundamentals of signal drill with flags and the semaphore system, together with drill in laying and erecting field telephones and telegraphs, while the many commanding hills scattered about Middletown in every direction and on both sides of the Connecticut river are equally well adapted for the erection of wireless stations, heliographs and lamps of various kinds for working by night. It is believed that the co-operation of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and associated companies can be secured to install all the necessary apparatus at Wesleyan and on the surrounding hills within a radius of twenty-five miles of Middletown, the erection to be supervised by regular army signal officers. One enthusiastic alumnus has offered to provide an automobile with a field wireless equipment.

Aviation Squad Suggested.

Intimations have been received that the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company occasionally will put a special train at the disposal of the Wesleyan signal corps, completely equipped for the transportation of signal apparatus, thus giving ample opportunity for the study and practice of signal transportation problems and the execution of rapid maneuvers.

A few alumni go so far as to urge the organization of an aviation squad as an integral part of the Wesleyan signal corps, with courses of instruction in aviation. For this plan at least two aeroplanes and a balloon will be needed for the purposes of observation and spotting artillery fire.

President Wilson, who was professor of history and jurisprudence at Wesleyan from 1888 to 1890, is interested in the plan for military training there, as related to his larger plan of national preparedness. President Wilson recently wrote: "My own thought turns back with the greatest pleasure to the memories of my two years at Wesleyan. I have always felt that they were among the happiest years of my life."

MATING THE BREEDERS.

Length of Time Needed For Production of Fertile Eggs.

With the coming of the early breeding season for the production of pullets and cockerels to be exhibited at the late summer and early fall shows, the following experiments regarding the period of time required to produce fertile eggs after the male has been put into the breeding pen, and also the period of time that must elapse before the effects of the mating have entirely passed off, will be of interest to many poultry keepers. Some of the tests were repeated several times with different breeds in order that the results might have a fairly broad application, says the Country Gentleman.

Observation concerning the period of time required for the eggs to be fertilized after the male was placed in the pen were carried on with one pen of White Leghorns and three pens of Rhode Island Red females. Two different tests were made with the pen of Leghorns and only one with the three pens of Reds.

In both tests with the Leghorns all eggs were sterile on the first and second days. On the third day of the first test 50 per cent of the eggs were fertile, though in the test only 25 per cent were fertile at this period. On the fourth day seven out of thirteen eggs were fertile in the first test and ten out of thirteen for the same day in the second test.

In all three pens of the Rhode Island Reds no fertile eggs were produced during the first three days. On the fourth day 44 per cent were fertile in pen 1, 2 per cent in pen 2 and 16 per cent in pen 3. In pen 1 all eggs produced on the seventh day were fertile, in pen 2 all the eggs laid on the eighth day were fertile, while in pen 3 four out of five eggs laid on the eighth day were fertile.

In determining the period of time that must elapse before the poultryman can be certain that the effects of a previous mating have passed off White Leghorn and White Plymouth Rock females were employed.

In the first test with the White Leghorns more than 50 per cent of the eggs laid on the eleventh day after the male had been removed were found to be fertile. On the tenth day of the test with the Plymouth Rocks more than 50 per cent of the eggs were fertile. The last fertile eggs in the Leghorn pen was found on the twentieth day, while no fertile eggs were produced in the pen of Plymouth Rocks after the sixteenth day.

These tests show, first, that as a general rule the poultryman can figure to save eggs for hatching on the third or fourth day after the male is put into the pen; second, that eggs may be saved for incubating purposes for at least ten days after the male has been removed, and third, that at least three weeks elapse before the breeder can be reasonably sure that the effects of a previous mating have been eliminated.

RUSSIANS IN 3 BIG CAMPAIGNS

Take Offensive in Galicia, Caucasus and Persia.

GRAND DUKE LEADS DRIVE

Muscovite Army Threatening Bagdad Sweeps Southward—British on Tigris Put Turks to Flight.

London, Jan. 17.—In three widely separated theatres of warfare the czar has initiated aggressive campaigns on a large scale.

From the Mesopotamian front huge forces of Russians are assaulting the Austrian lines, while in the near east the army of the Caucasus, under Grand Duke Nicholas, has begun a drive southward on a hundred mile front. To the south, in Persia, the Russian column, moving toward Bagdad, has swept beyond Hamadan, to the village of Kangawar, half way to Kermanshah, where the roads to Bagdad and other important points converge.

Russian operations in the Caucasus and Persia are expected soon to have an important effect upon the situation of the British forces in Mesopotamia, which were forced to fall back after getting within sight of Bagdad, and to hold in check the German aspirations to open a road toward India or to embark on an enterprise against Egypt and the Suez canal.

The British in Mesopotamia, it has been revealed through the casualty lists, have now been reinforced by Indian divisions which were in France and by Scottish regiments. The British, led by General Aylmer, have driven the Turks from positions they held astride the Tigris at Orath, twenty-five miles south of Kut-el-Amara, where the Turks attempted to make a stand, and are now pressing the Turks vigorously from the east and the north.

The Russians on the Caucasus front have received strong reinforcements, according to Turkish reports, and there is fighting on the entire line, which runs through a difficult country from Karabagh, south of the Aras river, to Ichan, south of Mito.

In the renewal of the offensive in Bukovina and eastern Galicia Russia has assembled a powerful army, which is dealing such violent blows at the Austrian line that it is believed Czernowitz and the important railways in the vicinity will soon be in Russian possession.

Vienna accounts of the fighting, which bear testimony to its sanguinary character, admit that the Russian attacks have swept up to the Austrian positions, but declare that the Austrians have succeeded in keeping their front intact.

In the Torporoutz district and eastward of Ranczke the Austrians say the Russian offensive is being conducted on a more furious scale than ever before. The Russians are delivering repeated attacks in columns twelve and fourteen lines deep. Deep snow and intense cold have added to the difficulties of the Russian campaign, but have not diminished the ardor of the Muscovite attacks.

Great Britain's navy already has begun the work of drawing tighter the net about Germany in order to more effectively close all routes by which the Kaiser's government has been receiving supplies. The proclamation of an actual blockade against Germany and her allies is to be expected soon.

The full strength of the navy will now be exerted against Germany, it is believed. That the navy be given full control of these measures has been advocated by critics of the policy of the foreign office, and the enforcement of an actual blockade will remove several points of controversy which have arisen through the operations of the orders in council.

Insult of Kaiser Fined. Paris, Jan. 17.—A despatch to the Temps from Lugano says that the Swiss government has prosecuted the editor of the newspaper Il Ragno for publishing a scurrilous poem on Emperor William. The federal court found the editor, Elvizio Civelli, guilty of insulting the emperor and fined him $50 and costs.

Woman and Man Moonshine Partners. Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 17.—Mrs. Sarah Reed and Wiley Marks, of Calhoun county, began serving prison sentences after pleading guilty in district court to a charge of operating a still for the manufacture of moonshine whisky. They were sentenced to pay fines of $1000 and serve terms of six months.

Dies Soon After Gay Party. York, Pa., Jan. 17.—Going to bed gaily after entertaining a party of young friends at her home, Miss Mabel Lucinda Davidson, twenty-five years old, was found dead in bed by her mother, Mrs. U. A. Davidson, hemorrhage from the lungs was the cause.

Fireman Fatally Injured. Centerville, Pa., Jan. 17.—Fireman August Ziegler was fatally hurt in a thirty-foot fall from an ice-covered roof while fighting flames which destroyed buildings covering half a square. The loss is $40,000.

X-Rays on Microscope. A microscope using X-rays has been perfected by a French scientist.

NO SEPARATE PEACE

Montenegro Says She Will Fight to Last Man.

Rome, Jan. 17.—The Montenegrin authorities officially deny that Montenegro ever adhered to or intends to adhere to any separate proposal of peace, or to any armistice with Austria.

It is declared that King Nitchitz and his army and people will continue to fight until the last man. A recent despatch from London said that after the capture of Mount Lovcen by the Austrians, advice had been received that Austria and Montenegro had arranged an armistice.

$15,000,000 Fire in Norway.

Christiania, Norway, Jan. 17.—A third of the city of Bergen, a thriving Norwegian sea port with a population of 30,000, was destroyed by fire. Two lives are reported lost and 2000 persons are homeless. The property damage is estimated at $15,000,000. The conflagration is said to be the worst ever recorded in Norway.

NO DRY BATTERIES.

They All Contain Moisture or They Would Be Useless.

No called dry batteries are in common use for small electric call bell systems and private telephone lines and were used extensively for ignition in earlier makes of automobiles. Applying the word "dry" to the battery is misleading, for there is no such thing as a "dry" battery. There never was, nor will there ever be.

If it were dry no current would generate, as it requires moisture to produce chemical-electric activity when the circuit is completed from the plate to the minus elements.

The so-called dry battery is really an "inclosed wet battery," which retains its moisture to its limit of life, whether in service or not. The limit of life depends on the stored capacity, how frequently the circuit is applied to it, evaporation due to age and deterioration of the conducting elements.

The battery consists of a zinc cylinder case containing a carbon in the center, the intervening space filled with a paste compound of one part zinc oxide, one part sal ammoniac, three parts plaster of paris and two parts water. The quantities are greater as the capacity of the battery is increased.

As soon as a circuit is completed a chemical combination is started, and the current flows from the internal part of the zinc to the carbon, then out from the carbon to the appliance and returns to the zinc. The external terminals of the battery are the reverse of the internal.

When the battery is exhausted it can be recharged by sending current into it from a close circuit battery, such as a nitric or sulphuric acid cell. Pouring water through a small hole at the top of the battery is an aid to the return of its life, but neither this nor the former will restore the battery to its original efficiency. — New York World.

UNION OF NATIONS SEEN.

R. W. Babson Presides at Anti-war Meeting in Boston.

Members of the Society to Eliminate Economic Causes of War met in Faneuil hall, in Boston, and listened to several addresses on how war can be avoided.

Roger W. Babson presided and read a number of telegrams from different sections of the country on the business outlook after the war.

Roger S. Hoot, discussing the need of an international flag, declared a union of nations was coming. Let prevention be our watchword," he said. "The conclusion is steadily growing in this country that it is relatively vain to ask whether the Kaiser's militarism, or England's navalism is responsible for the war."

"The real guilt is for the one who set the matches around for the boys to play with. He is the evil genius of our civilization, whose good name is aristocracy and whose bad name is nationalism."

Other speakers were Walter Wood of Philadelphia, E. L. Bridgman and Edward S. Payson of Boston, who talked on internationalism.

BRITISH AVIATOR RETURNS.

Lieutenant Evans Does Not Expect to Come Out of War Alive.

Feeling certain that he will be killed in action, Lieutenant W. K. Evans of the British army flying squadron is returning from Chicago to France to rejoin his squadron.

Lieutenant Evans was in Chicago two months recovering from injuries suffered while flying above the battlefield in Flanders. His observer, he said, was killed by the shell which caused his own injuries.

"I do not expect to come out of the war alive," he asserted.

A Frock For the Party.

Evening gown of lace and crepe Georgette, with bands of moire on the tunic to replace fur.

Very graceful and pretty is this evening gown with a flounced skirt of dainty lace draped with a tunic of crepe Georgette. Outlining the edge of the tunic is a narrow fold of black moire silk, and this trimming is repeated on the bodice. The bodice is also of crepe Georgette trimmed with also of tiny buttons. In medium size the dress requires 7 yards lace flouncing 27 inches deep, 4 yards 38-inch crepe Georgette and 4 yards 38-inch satin for the foundation.

So many are the requests for fancy waists that today's lesson will be devoted to the making of the bodice of this frock. Begin with the underbody and plait the front and back, bringing "T" to corresponding small "o" perforations. Close seams as notched. Turn the hem in the back and face this.

Pictorial Review Waist No. 6466. Sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Price, 15 cents. Skirt No. 6531. Sizes 22 to 34 inches waist. Price, 15 cents.

Pare and strain the apples, then press through a colander and add sugar to them while hot. Add the gelatin, which has been soaked for one-half hour in the cold water, and stir until dissolved. Stand in a pan of ice water and stir continually until the mixture begins to thicken, then fold in the cream which has been beaten to a stiff froth. Turn into a pudding mold and serve when very cold.

The Old Calendar

A sheet of days in ribbon bond. A whole book year. Of shade and shine and snow and bloom. Was gathered long.

On this old calendar. It dwindled slowly, leaf by leaf. Just like a rose. Whose full blown petals seek the sod. Was each day's close.

On this old calendar. And now the end, and there are left. For witness brief. The painted scroll and sliver band. That held the sheet.

On this old calendar. But somewhere, some time, we will find. Bound in a record of our lives—The chaff and sheaves. On this old calendar.

—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Must Conquer for Himself.

The conqueror is not so much pleased by entering into open gates as by forcing his way. He desires not the fields to be cultivated by the patient husbandman; he would have them laid waste by fire and sword. It would be a shame to go by a way already opened.—Lucan.

SOME GOOD ADVICE

Strengthened by Gettysburg Experiences.

Kidney disease is too dangerous to neglect. At the first sign of backache, headache, dizziness or urinary disorders, you should give the weakened kidneys prompt attention. Eat little meat, take things easier and use a reliable kidney tonic. There's no other kidney medicine so well recommended as Doan's Kidney Pills. Gettysburg people rely on them. Here's one of the many statements from Gettysburg people.

F. G. McCammon, Gettysburg, says: "I first used Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago and I still take them occasionally although I seldom need a kidney medicine. I suffered for quite a while from weak kidneys and a painful back, I tried several remedies and doctored, but with little success, until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They rid me of the pains and aches."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McCammon had. Foster-McBarn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

First Notes of Spring

Just as we seek the first violet when the snow begins to melt, we look for the first note of spring fashions as soon as Christmas is passed.

We are a restless people and fashion is ever plunging ahead.

The merchants vie with each other to catch the first authentic note.

There is keen rivalry to be first to show the new.

Competition, they say, is the life of trade, and certainly it is the inspiration of some mighty good advertising these days.

Just look through the columns of The Times and note how alert our merchants and manufacturers are.

Every line of the advertising reflects the desire to gain your trade by serving you better.

It all depends on the point of view

WHITE GOODS SALE NOW ON

The great disparity of higher prices on raw cotton between now and some months ago created very strong price advances on all kinds of Cotton Fabrics since June 1915.

We had placed heavy orders for Heavy Cottons, such as MUSLINS and BED MUSLINS, SHEETS, CASES &c., LONG CLOTHS and CAMBRICS to reach near January 1st, 1916 Also MANUFACTURED MUSLIN UNDERWEAR, which ever they could be had at or near old prices.

There is no likelihood in the judgment of those close to the primary market of any lower prices on Raw Materials this year. Add to the present price of Raw Cotton the higher wages paid everywhere in Textile Mills makes us able to give assurances that our present prices, on every character of Cotton Goods now affected, cannot be duplicated again this season.

A MISTAKE IN IDENTITY

By OSCAR COX

Having been invited to spend the week end at Seabright, on Friday afternoon, suit case in hand, I appeared at the railway station. A pale faced child poked a bunch of violets under my nose and looked an appeal to buy them. I did so, and putting them in the buttonhole of my coat I strolled toward the door through which passengers were going to the trains.

"Are you Will?"

The voice came from a very pretty girl who was looking into my face inquiringly. My name is William, and it is so common for men that I was not especially surprised at being asked the question by a stranger, thinking her to have made a mistake in the person. My reply was:

"It is."

"I supposed so by the violets. Come; let us get on to the train. I have my ticket."

She slipped her arm through mine as confidently as if I belonged to her. Not knowing what to do I did nothing, but I fully intended to make her aware of her error at once.

"That last letter of Clara's," she said as we walked to the train, "decided me."

Curiosity here stepped in to take a hand. I wondered what Clara had said in the letter.

"Um," I said by way of saying nothing. But by this time we reached the car steps, and I handed the young lady in. She took a seat, and I sat down beside her. I had thus far taken no advantage of her mistake. I would let her go on a little further before heading her off. I have noticed that if a woman has anything to say she will usually say it without encouragement.

"Clara is just too lovely for any thing," said the girl.

"Um."

"She has been very kind to me. When she wrote me that you had grown tired of your lonely life, that a big city like New York is of all places in the world the most desolate, that you wished she would introduce you to some girl who would make you a good wife and without the bother of a courtship, I realized that it was the same for men as for women, and while I didn't like your words—the bother of courting—I felt that in the main you were right. Then I received her letter making the arrangement for us to spend the week end with her and saying that you would meet me for this train and would wear a boutonniere of violets."

I had got the whole story in a nutshell. There was none of that shooting out in different directions like a bursting rocket, but a concise narration of facts. Just then the conductor came along taking tickets. My companion showed one for Dime, a station not quite so far as Seabright. Both tickets were taken up, and she did not see that mine was for a different station from hers. I began to explain:

"I dare say you will blame me when you have heard."

"Clara told me all about your marriage and divorce," she interrupted. "I may as well say right here that I don't consider you in the least to blame. Indeed I don't see how you could have acted otherwise."

Why not make the break right here? I concluded to plunge.

"I am not a divorced man," I said. "I have never been married. I think you must have made a mistake. For whom have you taken me?"

She looked at me in astonishment. "Clara gave me no name except Will. She said your other name would come later if the affair proceeded."

"I am quite sure there has been a mistake. I began to tell you a few minutes ago, when you interrupted me."

"Oh, my goodness gracious!"

"Don't disturb yourself. Your secret is perfectly safe with me. But I regret that you should have fallen into the wrong hands. Is there anything I can do to right matters?"

"No, no, no!"

"How do we know that if you have made a mistake Fate has not?"

The young lady was apparently at least calmed by this. At any rate, she seemed interested. I took out my card case, drew a card and, having pencilled my address on it, handed it to her, asking her to let me know how her affair with Will came out. A few moments later the train slowed up, the guard cried, "Dime!" and I handed my new found friend out of the train. She gave me an embarrassed smile at parting. I saw her enter a carriage driven by a coachman in livery and roll away.

I heard nothing more of the matter till one day I received a note signed by a name I did not recognize as among my acquaintances. As soon as I had read a few lines I knew it was from the girl who made the mistake. To keep her promise she informed me that the matter which had come to my knowledge had not materialized. She seemed much mortified at having entered upon it in the way she had.

I wrote asking permission to call and received it. I found one who had lived in affluence, but, having been reduced to want, had gone to the city to earn her living. She had so suffered from loneliness that when a friend undertook to make a match for her in a rather crude way she was tempted. She discovered that the man she was to meet did not suit her.

I found her ready to be consoled in the matter and consoled her, but not without "the bother of courting."

GREAT NEED NOW FOR PATRIOTISM

County School Directors are Told by their President in Opening Address of the Convention. Educators here.

With an eloquent plea for the teaching of patriotism in the public schools in view of the constant danger which America now faces of becoming engaged in war, Rev. W. K. Fleck, president of the School Directors Association of Adams County addressed the first session of the twenty-fifth annual convention which was opened in the court house this morning after devotional exercises conducted by Rev. J. B. Baker. Mr. Fleck said in part:

"We are here for the purpose of catching a larger vision of the responsibilities, the duties, and the honors which fall to us as guardians of the school children of our county. In casting about for a subject on which to base my address I felt that I could select none better than that of Patriotism—love for, and devotion to one's country.

"Three hundred years ago there was founded upon this continent one of the greatest nations on which the sun has ever shined. It was founded by noble men and noble women who came here from Europe to establish a nation in which every one would have an equal chance to make a noble name and to achieve success in things material, in things intellectual, and in things moral. Their efforts were crowned with the greatest success and to-day we are known all over the world for our wealth, our intelligence, and the fine character of our manhood and womanhood.

"This nation was founded and protected throughout its existence by the noble self denial and devotion of its patriotic citizens. As a result you, and I, and all the people of the twentieth century, are reaping the benefits.

"Now we have come to a crisis. We are in imminent danger of becoming involved in the great war, for it is not a European conflict, it is world wide in its scope. As at the time of the Civil War there were disloyal citizens in the country, so now in this crisis there are such people within our own borders. In 1861 the ones to be most dreaded were not those who belonged to the eleven states which seceded, but rather to those in the North who were not to be depended upon. To-day the hyphenated American who does not put the United States above every country in the world is this land's greatest foe."

Mr. Fleck then scored vigorously those who, coming from foreign shores, fail to catch the spirit of devotion to this country. He rapped in no uncertain terms the "peace at any price" policy and pointed to Lincoln as one of America's greatest men who would not have tolerated insult from abroad without resorting to force of arms, if necessary. Continuing he said:

"You are the directors of the public schools of our county. You have the power of carrying out the education of our boys and girls. Upon you rests the responsibility of selecting the proper sort of teachers for them. Upon you rests the responsibility of seeing that these teachers instruct their pupils to honor and love the country for which Washington, Lincoln, and many others lived and died."

"You ought not have in any school a teacher who does not love this nation above every other nation, or a teacher who will fail to instill into his pupils the same principle."

At this afternoon's session the following officers were elected: president, Rev. W. K. Fleck, of Fairfield; vice presidents, W. E. Grove, York Springs; and W. R. Peters, of Menallen township; secretary, John A. Guise, Huntingdon township; treasurer, George A. Klingel, New Oxford.

The morning and afternoon sessions of the convention were largely attended.

SIX CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS

Three Republicans and Three Democrats to be in the Race According to York Paper. Various Men Named.

Interest in congressional candidates increases as the time for the primaries approaches, and at present there are no less than half a dozen prospective candidates in evidence, according to a political forecast in this morning's York Gazette, which continues:

But few of them, however, have definitely announced their candidacy, but it is likely that before another week has rolled around all of them will have done so or have retired from the field.

S. Forry Lauck will in all probability announce himself at a very early date for the Democratic nomination. He was a delegate to the national convention which nominated President Woodrow Wilson, and several times his friends have urged him to become a congressional candidate. He now looks as if he will accede to their wishes.

A. R. Brodbeck, will in all likelihood be a candidate for another nomination on the Democratic ticket. Prof. C. W. Stine county superintendent of public schools, has definitely made his announcement on the same ticket, and James J. Gerry, ex-prothonotary, is now awaiting certain developments, in the hope of being able to make his announcement in a few days.

The Republicans, too, will have several candidates, from present indications. Congressman C. William Beales says he does not want another term; but Congressman-at-large D. P. Lafean shows signs of hobnobbing with the nomination, and Dr. C. A. Keagy, of Hanover, also is said to be likely to be a candidate. Paul J. Gilbert, of York, is also a candidate, it is understood.

With all these in the field, together with the several aspirants for national convention honors of both parties, political affairs for the coming spring promise to be quite interesting.

COUNTY MEN ARE TAKEN BY DEATH

County Resident Dies in Carbon County while Visiting his Daughter. Formerly Connected with Normal School.

G. W. WIERMAN

George Wilson Wierman, a very well known resident of Biglerville, died at 3:30 this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Kuntz, in Lansford, Carbon County, aged 67 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Wierman left Biglerville about a week before Christmas intending to visit for some time with their daughters at Lansford and Pasaic. They went first to the home of Mr. Kuntz, who is superintendent of the schools at the former place. While there Mr. Wierman was taken ill with anemia which was in its advanced stages. He sank gradually and three weeks ago was forced to go to bed. His condition became steadily worse until his death to-day.

Mr. Wierman was a resident of this county for his entire life with the exception of seventeen years spent in Shippensburg. For all but the last three or four years of this time he was steward at the Cumberland Valley State Normal School. After retiring from that position he followed the trade of plumbing for several years, until his removal to Biglerville where he then engaged in farming.

Mr. Wierman was born in Bendersville. He was a member of the Lutheran church at Biglerville.

He leaves his wife, who, before marriage, was Miss Susan Busbey, and three daughters, Mrs. C. Arthur Griest, Guernsey; Mrs. E. E. Kuntz, Lansford; and Mrs. Robert M. Howard, of Pasaic, New Jersey.

The body will be brought to the home of C. Arthur Griest on Friday afternoon and the funeral will be held from there at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. Interment in the cemetery at Bendersville.

EDWARD BROUGH

Stricken with apoplexy while seated in a chair at his home in Biglerville about five o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Edward Brough died almost instantly. He was aged 76 years, 8 months and 8 days.

He was a son of the late Emanuel Brough, of York Springs, and was engaged in farming for many years near Biglerville, but about ten years ago moved to the town.

He leaves his wife, who, before marriage, was Miss Deliah Hoffman, and these children: Mrs. Jennie Yeatts and Mrs. Routzahn, York; Miss Ella Brough, at home; Mrs. G. K. Hartman, Topeka, Kansas; William Brough, Aspers, and Edward Brough, Wilmington, Del.

Mr. Brough was an active member and for a number of years treasurer of the United Brethren church, at Biglerville.

Funeral Saturday afternoon, meeting at the house at one o'clock. Services and interment at the United Brethren church, Rev. H. T. Denlinger, officiating.

CORNELIUS C. STOUGH

Cornelius C. Stough died at 6:30 this morning at his home in New Oxford from a complication of diseases, aged 71 years.

Mr. Stough, who was one of New Oxford's best citizens, had been ill for the past two years. He was a saddler by trade and retired about ten years ago.

His wife, who was Miss Elizabeth Minter, died one year ago and he leaves one sister and two brothers, Miss Mary Stough, of New Oxford, Edward Stough, of New Oxford, Charles Stough, of Hanover.

Funeral Sunday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock. Services at the house. Interment in New Oxford cemetery. P. W. C. Baker, officiating.

DAVID STEVENS

David Stevens, a well known colored resident of Gettysburg, died Wednesday afternoon in the York hospital where he was taken several weeks ago. He was about 80 years old and unmarried.

The body was brought to Gettysburg this morning and taken to the home of Mrs. Green from where the funeral will be held on Friday. Interment in the colored cemetery.

SOME VARIETIES OF PEACHES HURT

Those which Cannot Stand Very Cold Weather were hurt by Low Temperature of Early Part of the Week.

"Some varieties of peaches have evidently been killed in the Smithsburg peach belt by the recent cold snap," said Lancelot Jacques, of Smithsburg, who is one of the best known peach growers of this section.

"There are some varieties which will stand only about six degrees below zero, and these have certainly perished, or most of them," said Mr. Jacques but he added that there are many other varieties which will stand about 15 degrees below zero as their limit of cold, and he takes it that these varieties are still safe.

Mr. Jacques is a peach grower who looks on the bright side of things, and he stated that while peach growing is a gamble pure and simple, yet he stated that if the buds of Washington county come through safely this year he looks for excellent prices.

In New York and Northern Pennsylvania, all the peaches have been frozen by temperature running in 20 degrees below zero, so that there will be little or no competition from that section.

Mr. Jacques said that New York, and Northern Pennsylvania were large growers of peaches and he stated they were direct competitors of this section. Last year he stated there was a tremendous crop there, and said that locally grown peaches could hardly find sale.

In 1914, the New York and Pennsylvania crops were frozen, and persons in this section who had peaches made money, said Mr. Jacques. He is devoutly hoping that the cold weather of February may again spare the peaches of this section, and that it will again be blessed with a bountiful crop of fruit.

TWO CONGRESSMEN

One will Speak here February 22, the Other on Memorial Day.

Thomas S. Crago, congressman at large from Pennsylvania, has been secured to deliver the address in the court house on the evening of February 22 when the local patriotic orders will have their annual public Washington's Birthday celebration. Mr. Crago served as captain of Company K, 10th Pennsylvania during the Spanish-American War, and is at present lieutenant colonel of that regiment. He is regarded as a brilliant speaker. Several local men will also appear on the program.

A. P. Gardner, congressman from Massachusetts, has been secured to deliver the oration in the Soldiers' National Cemetery on Memorial Day. He is now serving his eighth term in Congress, and has attained much prominence in the past few years through his advocacy of the preparedness policy.

SPOKE AT CHAPEL

State College Head Talks to Students here.

Dr. E. E. Sparks, president of Pennsylvania State College, who is here to address the convention of the School Directors Association of Adams County, accepted an invitation from President Granville to speak to the boys of the local college at the chapel exercises at noon to-day. Dr. Sparks gave a much appreciated ten minute talk.

CAN NOW SECURE THEIR PAPERS

But Signers on Candidates' Petitions Must not be Solicited before a Later Date. Commissioners Get Supply.

The county commissioners have received from the state department at Harrisburg blank nomination petitions for circulation for signatures for the primaries next May. Applications are being made for the papers, which cannot be signed by electors before next Saturday. The law provides that they must be properly executed and filed on or before April 18. Only petitions for district committeemen and other party officers will be received by the county officials, all the others being filed in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth at Harrisburg.

No elector will be permitted to sign more candidates' petitions for the same office than he can vote for at the election, and the use of ditto marks is prohibited, as ditto marks on petitions are in much disfavor with the courts.

Petitions for the nomination of candidates for the several offices to be filled this year shall be signed by qualified electors as follows: For the office of president of the United States or of United States senator, by at least 100 qualified electors in each of at least 10 counties in the state.

For the offices of state treasurer, auditor general, representative in congress-at-large, delegate at large, and alternate delegate at large, by at least 100 qualified electors in each of at least five counties of the state.

The requirements as to nomination petitions for judge of the supreme court of Pennsylvania are similar to those for other offices, except that the party preference of the candidate is not given—the petitions are non-partisan. Petitions for this office require the signatures of at least 100 qualified electors in each of at least five counties in the state.

For the office of district representative in congress and for district delegate and alternate delegate to national conventions, by at least 200 qualified electors of the district.

For the office of representative in the general assembly, by at least 100 qualified electors of each legislative district in the county.

Petitions for the nomination of members of the state committee, two to be chosen by each of the political parties in the county, shall be signed by at least 100 qualified electors of the county.

Petitions for party offices shall be signed by at least 10 qualified electors of the district in the county in which the candidate is to be elected, and filed with the county commissioners three weeks before the primary.

FOUR CLUB CIRCUIT

Cumberland Going into League with Some Real Stars.

At a meeting of the Cumberland Base Ball Club plans were outlined for the formation of a four-team circuit under the rules of organized baseball.

With Cumberland, Frostburg and Piedmont, all in position to throw their hats in the ring it would require only one more city to make such a league a reality. As the three towns that have already made preparations to import some real league stars are the only ones within a radius of fifty miles large enough to support such a team, it has been suggested that Altoona, with a population of 56,000, be asked to place a team in the proposed league.

With this town, which is much larger and closer than any town in the Blue Ridge League, there is no doubt that such a move would prove a financial success. If Altoona could be induced to join with her sister towns of Cumberland, Frostburg, and Piedmont, it would make a circuit that would cause the Blue Ridge magnates to envy.

Break Up Bronchial Coughs, Croup And Colds Promptly

Make the Best Remedy at Home—128 Teaspoonfuls for 50 Cents

Don't neglect your first cold, cough or any Bronchial affection, this fail, but commence treatment immediately, and through using the proper medicine, it can be checked from the very start and promptly cured, but if neglected probably will hang on all winter; if it does not develop into something more serious, such as Pneumonia or Consumption. True, there are hundreds, yes thousands of cough remedies on the market. While some are good, there are many which are not, but are positively harmful, due to the narcotics which they contain. But why experiment with these different remedies purely on the strength of exaggerated claims of manufacturers, when Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant is sold by The People's Drug Store on such a positive guarantee to give perfect satisfaction, yes even more money will be refunded by them if it is not found the best remedy ever used in Severe Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough or Croup, and it will also be found excellent for Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. Besides these druggists guaranteeing "that it will be the best remedy ever used," it will likewise be found the most economical, because one bottle (50 cents' worth) makes a full pint (128 teaspoonfuls) of the most excellent medicine for any of the above affections, when mixed at home with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of water. It makes as much, or more, than would cost you $2.00 to $3.00 of almost any of the ordinary ready-made kinds, sold in bottles holding only 24 to 32 teaspoonful. You will be the sole judge yourself, and under the same positive "Money Back" guarantee which the druggists make for the famous Asthmator. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy.

REOPEN U-BOAT WAR DISPUTE

U. S. to Study Germany's New Submarine Policy.

LUSITANIA CASE HELD UP

Kaiser's Offered Settlement Delayed Until Orders to Sink Armed Merchantmen Are Examined.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Secretary of State Lansing said that the German government's announced intention of sinking armed merchantmen without warning after February 29 has reopened the entire question of submarine warfare.

The Lusitania agreement, which was formally presented by count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and which is said to concede virtually everything for which the United States has striven in the dispute over submarine war, cannot be finally accepted until the United States determines whether it is repudiated in any way by the new policy of sinking armed merchant ships.

It was pointed out that American officials realized the Lusitania agreement refers to "liners" and that the newly announced German submarine policy refers to all armed ships. Before the Lusitania agreement finally is accepted, it will be necessary to clarify the situation.

In his conference with Secretary Lansing, the German ambassador discussed the advisability of a postponement of the effective date of the new submarine orders to give opportunity for negotiations. Secretary Lansing did not commit himself and made no comment.

Count von Bernstorff told Secretary Lansing it was his personal opinion that in carrying out the new submarine campaign it was not the intention of the German government to sink "liners." Mr. Lansing is understood to have informed him that such a statement from the German government would be desirable.

German embassy officials declared they could not understand why the situation should be disturbed because they understood the Lusitania negotiations all along were conducted as applying to unarmed ships. It was established after sinking that the Lusitania bore no armament.

It developed that when the ambassador represented the draft of the Lusitania agreement, more than a week ago, he at that time informed the state department of his government's new submarine policy, which later was announced from Vienna and Berlin.

Secretary Lansing's announcement came after Ambassador von Bernstorff had declared his belief that the Lusitania agreement was "good as settled." He said he expected a statement would be forthcoming from the state department confirming this belief.

The ambassador said Secretary Lansing considered the amended agreement as "practically satisfactory," but that he would have to show it to President Wilson and obtain his approval before accepting it.

BIDS FOR BIG SUBMARINES

Electric Boat Company Makes Lowest Figure at $1,491,000 Each.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Bids for two new ocean-going submarines opened at the navy department showed the Electric Boat company as the lowest bidder, at $1,491,000 each. The Lake company bid $1,689,000. Congress has appropriated $1,500,000 for each submarine.

These vessels, designed to go where ever the navy goes and carry heavy guns as well as four torpedo tubes, will be the largest in the world. The third of the type, the Schley, is now under construction. It will be of 1200 tons. The two newer ones are to have a tonnage of 1500 tons.

ERZERUM CAPTURED BY RUSSIAN ARMY

No Tidings of the Fate of the Turkish Army.

Petrograd, Feb. 17.—A Russian army, under Grand Duke Nicholas, has captured Erzerum, the chief city of Armenia, after a series of furious assaults lasting more than two weeks. Official announcement of the victory was made by the war office.

Whether or not the Turkish army, estimated at 150,000 men, escaped capture is not known. It was reported that Field Marshal von der Goltz and Field Marshal Liman von Sanders, of the German army, were at Erzerum with the Turkish forces.

Following the official report of the capture of nine of the forts around the Turkish city it was accepted as a foregone conclusion that the city itself would soon fall. The Erzerum fortifications extended in a straight line for twenty-four miles along a ridge intersecting all the important roads from the Caucasus. When the Russian advance became menacing the German engineers had new defensive works constructed, but it was found that these forts could not stand before the pounding fire of the big Russian guns, which was kept directed against the works night and day.

The capture of Erzerum removes a serious obstacle from the path of the advancing Russians. They are in a position now to move southward along Lake Van and cut the line of communications of the Turkish forces in Mesopotamia.

Erzerum is 675 miles east of Constantinople and about forty miles from the Russian border.

BRITISH ARE ATTACKING

New Troops Being Used Against German Veterans at Ypres.

London, Feb. 17.—Determined to regain the trenches which the Germans captured southeast of Ypres, British troops are making strong counterattacks with indications of complete success.

A vigorous artillery duel has been in progress over the greater part of the Ypres front with the German guns keeping up a steady stream of shells into the ruined city of Ypres. The Germans are engaged in a desperate effort to press back the British salient at Ypres. The heaviest fighting has taken place around Hooze at the Ypres-Menin road.

New British troops which have only recently completed the final stages of training in France, are being used against the seasoned German veterans on the Flanders front and despatches say that they are acquitting themselves with gallantry.

2 MUNITION SHIPS AND BIG PIER BURN

Mysterious Fire Sweeps Brooklyn Dock.

TWO LIVES REPORTED LOST

Twenty-five Other Vessels Damaged by Flames Fed by Gasoline Cargo Intended for Russia.

New York, Feb. 17.—The steamships Bolton Castle and Pacific and a 900-foot pier belonging to the New York Dock company, at the foot of Pioneer street, Brooklyn, were destroyed by the most destructive fire on the Brooklyn water front in years.

Another steamship, the Palladia, was damaged; about twenty-five scows and lighters were partly burned. At one time it was reported that forty of the coolies from the Bolton Castle and Pacific were missing, but six hours after the fire started, the police said, they had accounted for all but two. It is not believed the loss of life will exceed this number. The loss is estimated at more than $3,000,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but suspicions that it was incendiary were aroused because some of the ships were loading with war munitions, some of them for the Russian government, to be delivered at Vladivostok.

A statement issued on behalf of agents for the Bolton Castle and Pacific, however, said their investigation "thus far has failed to develop any evidence which would lead to the conclusion that the fire was of incendiary origin."

A watchman aboard the Bolton Castle discovered that the buildings on the pier were on fire. The blaze spread so rapidly that the officers and crews of the ships and lighters lying at the pier after a vain effort to prevent the spread of the flames to their vessels, had to leap overboard or seek safety aboard lifeboats or tugs which hastened to the rescue.

The three steamships lying at the pier were surrounded by a fleet of fifty lighters and barges, on each of which was one or more men. On some of the barges were the wives and families of the captains. Some had to jump into the water to escape the swift onrush of the flames. Firemen and policemen dragged many to nearby piers and others were rescued by tugboats.

When the first company of firemen reached the pier, it was blazing so fiercely they could not approach it. The Palladia was towed into the stream 200 yards or more off the dock, but it was impossible to move the other two steamships. Fire boats saved the Palladia, but could make no progress against the flames on the other two vessels.

The Bolton Castle was loading with gasoline for Russia, and this fed the blaze. The boilers of both the Bolton Castle and the Pacific blew up when the fire was at its height, completing the work of destruction. Several barges loaded with gasoline lying near the steamships were destroyed.

AGAINST "GREATEST NAVY"

Tillman Favors "Second Greatest," Despite President's Expression.

Washington, Feb. 17.—"If President Wilson is quoted correctly as desiring the United States to have a navy incomparably the greatest navy in the world, I say now and here that I am not in favor of any such navy as that," declared Senator Tillman, chairman of the senate naval committee, in the senate.

"But I do want us to have the second greatest navy afloat," he continued. "By the greatest I mean great in efficiency of its officers and in the fighting qualities of its ships of all kinds. I cannot believe that President Wilson spoke advisedly or in cold blood when he said we should have 'incomparably the greatest navy.'"

KILLS HER RIVAL

Wife Shoots Woman in Crowded Street Car, Then Surrenders.

Huntington, W. Va., Feb. 17.—Mrs. Rose Wood, a young married woman, was shot and instantly killed on a crowded Huntington-Ashland interurban car by Mrs. Leonard Defoe, who said Mrs. Wood had alienated her husband's affections.

Mrs. Wood was seated in the car with Defoe, bound, it was said for Catlettsburg, Ky. Mrs. Defoe boarded the car in West Huntington, and, walking to the seat occupied by the couple, drew a revolver from her muff, and, placing it against the back of Mrs. Wood's head, fired. Mrs. Wood died almost instantly. Mrs. Defoe surrendered to the police.

NO PEACE UNTIL BELGIUM IS RESTORED

Formal Declaration Made to King Albert.

Paris, Feb. 17.—England, France and Russia have given a solemn pledge to Belgium that they will not make peace with Germany until the independence of Belgium has been restored.

Official notification of this guarantee was given. Although England entered the war because of the violation of Belgian neutrality by Germany, the official declaration was the first that had been forthcoming binding the allies to continue the struggle until Belgium is restored.

It has been reported unofficially on several occasions recently that Germany desired to conclude a separate peace with Belgium, restoring the occupied territory and paying an indemnity in return for certain commercial advantages. Official denial of these reports were made last week by the Belgian legation at London. In connection with these reports, a statement was attached to the appointment on February 4 of Earl Curzon and General Sir Douglas Haig, commander of the British forces on the continent, to visit King Albert of Belgium on a special mission, the nature of which was not disclosed.

BRITAIN OUR BIGGEST BUYER

Spent $1,191,000,000 Here Last Year.

France is Second.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Great Britain is using now three times as much of American products as any other foreign country and is absorbing more than one-third of all American exports. Export trade figures made public by the department of commerce show that British purchases of all kinds in the United States last year amounted to $1,191,000,000.

France holds second place among America's customers, with purchases last year of about half a billion. Canada is third, with $344,000,000, and Italy fourth, with a quarter of a billion.

American-made munitions now are pouring into Europe at the rate of nearly $2,000,000 worth daily, with the figures swelling rapidly as production increases.

One New River Project.

Washington, Feb. 17.—After adding $700,000 for improvement of East river channel at New York from Governor's Island and the Battery to the navy yard, the house committee on rivers and harbors voted a favorable report on the annual rivers and harbors bill, aggregating $39,608,410. All new projects except New York harbor were voted down.

Beef Calves in Alabama.

Alabama's experiment station has been conducting an investigation of the cost of raising beef calves to the age of nine and a half months under average farm conditions. Grade Aberdeen-Angus calves used in this experiment were born in the spring and carried on pasture with cows until late fall, when they were weaned and fattened. The average cost of raising each calf for nine and a half months was $14.36, or $3.12 a hundredweight.

The calves were later finished for market and sold for $5.87½ a hundred, returning an average profit of $6.81 each.—Country Gentleman.

Barley For Hogs.

Barley will not put fat on hogs as rapidly as will corn. The hull of barley is indigestible and is not relished by hogs. This grain produces pork very high in quality. The finest bacon in the world is from barley fed hogs. This grain, like corn, is carbonaceous in character and should not be fed exclusively. Where barley is grown and is available for hog feeding it can be used as a considerable portion of the ration with very good results. The kernels are small and hard, and consequently it should be ground or preferably crushed before feeding.—Kansas Farmer.

Ophthalmia In Horses.

Periodic ophthalmia (moon blindness) is incurable when established. It causes blindness of one or both eyes after repeated attacks which come on at intervals of a month or thereabout. Bathe the eyes with a 10 per cent solution of boric acid twice daily. At time of attack keep the eyes covered with a soft cloth to be kept wet with a lotion composed of half a dram each of sulphate of zinc and fluid extract of belladonna leaves and ten drops of carbolic acid in a quart of cold water. If the eyeballs remain clouded after the inflammation subsides paint them once daily with a solution of two grains of nitrate of silver in an ounce of distilled water to be kept in a blue glass bottle. Slightly darken the stable.—Farm Journal.

Feeding Breeding Ewes.

To have strong, healthy lambs the ewes before lambing should have all the exercise they can be induced to take, and it is important that they should be fed liberally with bran. The feed should be carefully regulated both before and after the lambs come. It should consist of fine early cut hay, roots, clover and bran. They should be fed only what they will eat clean.

Tankage Improves Ration.

Most of us feed our brood sows on corn. If we will buy tankage enough to afford them one pound of that to fifteen pounds of corn it will make the corn worth almost twice as much to the hogs and be worth more than the tankage cost in assurance of better pigs, more milk for them and a healthy sow which will not eat her young.—Farm and Fireside.

WOULD RESTRICT SOUTHERN VOTE

Quadrennial Row Now on in Republican Ranks.

DELEGATES THE CHIEF ISSUE

Leaders Would Reduce Number of Accredited Representatives at Convention—Say Some Are Ready to Sell Out, Especially Those Who Are Not Instructed How to Vote.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Feb. 17.—[Special.]—The same old controversy over southern delegates to the Republican national convention has begun. Southern Republicans, those who represent districts in congress and have real Republican constituencies, object strenuously to the old methods, the fight among different candidates for southern support.

Ever since General Grant was president there has been the same sort of a quadrennial controversy. The purchasable quality of southern delegates has entered into Republican politics. Sometimes it has resulted in defeating nominations which would have been otherwise made. But as long as men are ready to sell in politics there are men with money to buy.

What They Want.

It is the aim of real representative Republicans of the south to have the states send uninstructed delegations to the convention. Then they would have these southerners get together at the convention and become a real fighting force and an effective element in making the nomination. They would go a little further and get some good offices for southern men, places in the cabinet, foreign missions and jobs in Washington. Your southern Republican is practical in his politics.

Of course there is a vital objection to commercializing the delegates of the south as has been done on numerous occasions before and which has caused bitter controversies in the party.

How They Do It.

Watching members of the house talk to empty seats, with not more than a score of members paying any attention whatever, the query came into the mind of a spectator the other day. "I'll explain," said the man to whom the inquiry was made. "Most of them are lawyers. They began by addressing an audience of one; a justice of the peace. Then they had to address an audience of one consisting of a district judge. They also spent much time addressing audiences of twelve jurors in lawsuits. When they began in politics they spoke to small audiences in country schoolhouses. They are used to small, inattentive audiences. But the great secret is that they like to hear themselves talk and to see their language in print."

Getting Back at Them.

During the discussion of a land bill in the senate several statements were made as to the generosity of the federal government to the public land states in giving them large grants for various purposes. After this had been going on for some time Senator Fall of New Mexico read a statement showing how the old states had been benefited by public land sales. He pointed out that in 1890 the general government took from the funds accruing from the sale of lands and loaned to the older states $74,000,000; not a dollar of which had ever been returned. The states benefiting were Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri and Arkansas.

Senator Fall showed that if interest had been charged on these loans those states would owe the government many times the value of all the public lands in the other states.

May Oppose Mann.

A rumor has been floating about the house of representatives saying that Walter I. Fisher may oppose Jim Mann for the nomination this year. Fisher was secretary of the interior during the last part of the Taft administration. He is a strong conservationist and is an active individual. But it is doubtful if any man can beat Jim in his own district.

Removing a Source of Trouble. "The Philippines are giving us a great deal of trouble," remarked a member of the house who knows that there will be a sharp debate on the bill. "Well, let us cut 'em out," replied another member. "Of course it will leave an ugly wound and it will be a sore spot for awhile, but in the end it will be only one of the many scars left by the Spanish war."

It is believed that President Wilson has much the same view in regard to the islands. He thinks that once we are rid of them they will not occupy the minds of the people.

La Follette More Attentive. It has been remarked by those who give close attention to affairs in the senate that Senator La Follette has been more attentive than at any time in several years. They are wondering whether the Wisconsin leader is not getting ready for a big blast of some kind.

Tribute to Hubby.

A Kansas woman posted this notice for peddlers and agents, who kept her doorbell busy: "I want absolutely nothing, every wish being supplied by a loving husband."

DEALS WITH FOES MADE IN SWEDEN

Stockholm Center of New International Traffic.

DEFY LAWS TO MAKE MONEY

Business Transacted at Great Risk. Most of the Trades Are Between Germans and Russians—Wheat From Enemy Territory Reaches Teutons Through Rumania.

Stockholm is the center of a new international world of "agents" from belligerent states. The agents are military, political and commercial. The military agents are spies who watch Sweden's affairs from a standpoint of a possible intervention in the war, and the political agents are propagandists who found "news agencies" to supply, gratis, colored news about the war or who try to buy control of important newspapers.

The commercial agents are most numerous and flourishing. Their business is the carrying on of illicit deals between the belligerent states—that is, "trading with the enemy," mostly in defiance of their country's laws and sometimes with their country's secret connivance. In all belligerent states scores of citizens are in jail because they were detected, sometimes merely in a technical sense, sometimes with out knowing it, in deals from which the enemy would profit. Here, outside the reach of the belligerents' penal laws, deals involving the payment of millions of dollars are being made between enemy states or their subjects.

German-Russian Deals.

Most of these secret deals are between Germany and Russia. England is excluded because there is nothing she wants from Germany, but Germany and Russia were interdependent before the war, and they continue, in spite of loud phrased boycotts, to be interdependent. Russian subjects, mostly ex-residents of Warsaw, buy up vast quantities of German manufactured goods, mark them "Made in England" and send them to Russia. The Russian state, when it wants the goods it self, winks at these proceedings. A case of fine field glasses, smuggled out of Germany in some unknown way, was dispatched to Russia via Finland. It broke open at the frontier station, and the contents were seen.

In the Grand hotel in Stockholm is the organization which is mainly responsible for the feeding of Germany with Russian wheat and corn. Stockholm is chosen as seat of the illicit grain exchange because it is easily accessible to Russians and Germans, and because it is so far from the real scene of the deals that suspicion is not aroused. The deals are executed via Rumania. Through Rumania Russian wheat is poured into Germany. Until lately Rumania refused to sell her own surplus grain to Austria or Germany. When the British failure at Gallipoli made clear that export via the Dardanelles would be impossible, and when the central powers by occupying Serbia cut Rumania off from other routes, the Rumanian landowners induced M. Bratiano's government to withdraw the grain export prohibition. Rumania then sold 150,000 tons of wheat to Germany. Further orders have been placed.

Some of the Wheat Russian.

The wheat sold to Germany is only partly Rumanian. Partly it comes from Russia, the country most interested in all in starving Germany out at the Grand hotel, Stockholm. German agents meet representatives of the south Russian wheat exporters and the Russians guarantee to get their wheat into Rumania. The presence of a certain German "Frothers & Stillson" as buyer of Russian wheat is known to every Stockholm business man. The Russians in these deals risk their necks, but profits yielded as the result of Germany's pressing need are great, and the international "agency" world of Stockholm reaps much of the profits.

In Stockholm also flourishes an "exchange" of agents—German, Russian and Swedish—who intercept Russo-British trade and divert part of it to German hands. This business is done in perfectly legal form. England has declared cotton contraband, and she succeeds in stopping cotton sent direct from America to Germany, also to neutral states if it is suspected that the later destination is Germany. But cotton which has been bought by English traders and resold, raw or manufactured, to Russia gets into German hands in considerable quantities.

TO PLANT 7,000,000 TREES

Extensive Plan of Restoration Under Taken by the State.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—Officials of the state forestry department estimated that more than 7,000,000 young trees, about half of the number in the state's twenty-four tree nurseries, would be used for restoration this year, forming the most extended program of the kind ever undertaken by the commonwealth.

The bulk of these trees will be planted on state forestry reservations, on new auxiliary reserves and similar public work and a large portion will be given free to persons desiring to use them for reforestation. The free distributing will not be for ornamental or shade planting, but only for development of wooded areas.

Medical Advertising THE VALUE OF TRUTH

Truth in business is just as important as truth in every-day life; truth creates confidence, establishes good-will and builds a reliability that will not be wrecked by the storms of competition.

Through three generations people have learned to place reliance on the advertised words of Scott's Emulsion, because they are untarnished, unexaggerated truths about a household remedy of real and actual worth.

The popularity of Scott's Emulsion is increasing as intelligence advances because in these days of adulterations it continues to guarantee pure cod liver oil medicinally perfected with glycerine and hypophosphites to build strength, improve the blood and strengthen the lungs. It is free from harmful drugs—a wholesome food- tonic, truthfully advertised.

Texas Plans Highway.

The good road building movement which has swept the south since the inauguration of the Dixie Highway association movement has spread into Texas with the same feverish activity and interest that has been displayed further east. So tense has become the interest in Texas that the Texas Good Roads association, just as did the Dixie Highway association, has found it necessary to assume an attitude of "strict neutrality" in the selection of the route for highways which it plans to build.

A new highway will be known as the San Antonio-Houston highway. The first link to be completed is to be a part of the southern national highway. So warm has been the competition between the various points between the two termini of the highway that the Texas association has deemed it advisable to issue a card stating its position of "strict neutrality." It must be said for the Texas association, however, that it has gone the other way association in Dixie one better, in that it has been able to capitalize the enthusiasm of the different competing sections to enormous advantage.

The plan of the Texas road builders has been to designate three tentative routes between San Antonio and Houston. It is up to the sections through which these routes pass to complete them. The first of these routes satisfactorily completed will be named as the official route and will be formally designated as the southern national route.

BUCKING A PARTY UNPLEASANT JOB

No Congressman Likes to Oppose Policies of Leaders.

SOMETIMES IT'S NECESSARY

Kitchen and Other Democrats Who Are Opposed to Administration's Preparedness Program Get Little Satisfaction and Do It Only Because They Are Convinced That They Are Right

By ARTHUR W. DUNN. Washington, Feb. 16.-(Special.)-It is often assumed that when a member of congress opposes his party, and particularly the president, who is the leader of his party, it is the result of mere perverseness or because he has been subject to some influence of an improper character. Oftentimes men who oppose the president are defeated by their home constituencies, and as a general rule they are given a black eye among their party men.

Now, it is a most unpleasant thing for a man to be antagonistic to the head of his party, to be in opposition to a majority of his party. Does any one think that Majority Leader Kitchen enjoys opposing the president's preparedness plans? Does any one really believe that the large number of Democrats who will stand with Kitchen are doing so because they want to be cantankerous?

A Disagreeable Position. Every one who has had any experience about congress knows that it is a disagreeable position to be "bucking the party." Few men are happy when in that attitude. They sometimes get a lot of fun out of it, and they sometimes have the satisfaction of seeing the bosses downed and the administration defeated, as in the case of the Republican leaders and President Taft but they do not get much glory out of it.

The Democrats who feel obliged to oppose the plans of the president in regard to war preparation are not in a happy frame of mind, but they will make quite a showing when the voting takes place.

Must Pay as They Go.

"They must pay as they go," remarked Congressman Butler, the ranking Republican member of the committee on naval affairs. "For one, I do not propose to vote for elaborate preparations and appropriations for the future. We will vote the appropriations with the propositions. They want to build an armor plant costing $20,000,000 and propose to appropriate $1,000,000 this year. I am not going to stand for that. They must clean up as they go along. They are not going to leave a lot of stuff for the Republicans to take care of in the future, not if I can help it."

A "Mad Desire."

Senator Stone, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, was not at all pleased with the Clarke amendment freeing the Philippines. "What are we about to do?" he asked near the close of the debate. "There seems a mad desire or passion to shake ourselves loose from the Philippines with out much regard for the consequences either to ourselves or to them." "For four successive campaigns," remarked Senator Borah of Idaho, "the Democrats have helped to create that 'mad desire,' for they have irresponsibly insisted upon letting go the Philippines."

They Never Get Old.

Congressman Ferris of Oklahoma was telling the house what an organization of women was doing for certain Indians in his state. He was interrupted by the regular interrupter, Jim Mann, who said: "It really offends my sensibilities to have the gentleman constantly refer to these estimable women as 'old ladies.'" "I will change it to 'dear ladies,'" responded Ferris. "Surely they cannot be old," insisted Mann. "These beautiful women never grow old." And then he attacked and defeated the proposition to pay these ladies for the services they had rendered.

Surprised the Minnesotans.

Vice President Marshall surprised the Minnesota colony, which assembled in statutory hall to unveil the statue of former Senator Rice. He made one of those splendid speeches which he can at times, with the result that many who had never heard him expressed surprise and satisfaction. "I did not know it was in him," was a comment which was heard when the ceremonies were over.

Might Have Been a Historian.

If Champ Clark had not been too busy lecturing, running for president and presiding over the house of representatives he might have been a great historian. He knows more about congressional history than any other man in public life, or out of it, for that matter. He is always equipped to give the exact history of how things happened.

For instance, when the resolution was under debate for a flood control committee he gave the house some facts about the formation of committees which no man knew. His claim was that whenever there was a development requiring a new committee it should be created as had been the practice in the past.

Revised Motto.

Never do anything disagreeable today that you can just as well put off until tomorrow. By that time you may not have occasion to do it.

Sweet potatoes, placed in cut glass or other bowls filled with water, send forth a decorative yellowish-green vine, which has become very popular, according to report, the plants requiring no earth whatever, but consuming an inordinate amount of water.

SCHWAB BUYS PENNA. STEEL

Bethlehem Head to Give $25,000,000 For Company.

PAYS CASH AND BONDS

Arranges to Acquire Holdings of the Pennsylvania Railroad and Reading Iron Company.

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, concluded arrangements for the purchase of a controlling interest in the Pennsylvania Steel company.

Final details were settled at a conference held in New York, and an announcement of the sale of its stock may be made by the Pennsylvania Steel company.

Mr. Schwab will obtain the Pennsylvania Steel holdings of the Reading Iron company as well, and also the personal holdings of William H. Donner, chairman of the Pennsylvania Steel company. Virtually all that stands in the way of a consummation of the transaction, which approximates $25,000,000, not including the stocks and bonds of underlying companies, is formal ratification by the Pennsylvania and Reading boards.

Mr. Schwab will pay $100 per share for Pennsylvania Steel preferred and about $40 per share for Pennsylvania Steel common. Minority shareholders owning about twenty-four per cent of the outstanding stock will be paid in cash. The three majority holders, who own the controlling seventy-six per cent interest will be paid in both cash and bonds. What proportion of cash they will receive was not stated.

Mr. Schwab will form a new holding company, which will take over the Pennsylvania Steel company of New Jersey, which is the company whose stock is traded in the open market, and which company owns the Pennsylvania Steel system, including the Pennsylvania Steel company of Pennsylvania, the Maryland Steel company, the Spanish-American Iron company and the Penn-Mary Coal company.

William H. Donner stands out as the striking figure in the negotiations, as it is estimated that in the sale of his Cambria and Pennsylvania Steel shares this month he has cleared a profit of approximately $4,308,434. In the Cambria Steel transaction his profits are estimated at $3,125,000, and in the sale of his Pennsylvania Steel holdings his profits are $1,183,434.

PASS OWNERSHIP INQUIRY

Senate Adopts Bill for Investigation of Railroad Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Investigation of the adequacy of railroad legislation and government ownership of public utilities as compared with federal regulation, by a congressional committee was provided by the senate by a vote of forty-five to thirteen.

President Wilson advocated investigating the efficacy of the legislation and the interstate commerce commission. Senator Newlands, Nevada, introduced a resolution for that purpose and the senate on motion of Senator Borah, Idaho, amended it for the study of public ownership.

The resolution goes to the house which would be represented on the committee by five members. There would be five senators.

Sues Girl to Recover Ring.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 17.—Sult has been entered in Dauphin county court by J. L. Freedman against Miss Bertha P. Roth for recovery of an engagement ring. Freedman, who is a salesman, alleges that he returned Miss Roth's ring when the engagement was ended, but she failed to send back his ring.

Willard-Moran Bout March 25.

New York, Feb. 17.—The ten-round boxing match for the world's heavy weight championship between Jess Willard and Frank Moran, in Madison Square Garden, has been postponed from March 8 to Saturday, March 25. Tom Jones, manager of the champion, reported upon his arrival in Chicago that such a delay was absolutely necessary.

100 Per Cent Dividend.

Detroit, Feb. 17.—The directors of the Continental Motor Manufacturing company at a meeting here increased the capital stock of the company from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000. A dividend of 100 per cent on the common stock was declared.

CAMPAIGN NOTE HIT BY N. Y. REPUBLICANS

Platform Adopted Strikes at Wilson Policies.

New York, Feb. 17.—The Republican state convention unanimously adopted a platform intended as the keynote for the Republican national campaign, endorsed the Whitman state administration and named United Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Governor Whitman, Frederick Tanner, chairman of the state committee, and Elton R. Brown, Republican leader in the state senate, as the "big four" to represent New York in the national convention.

The principal points of the platform adopted are:

Advocacy of "complete preparations for the common defense, economic, industrial and financial, as well as military," including a recommendation for a naval general staff and substantial strengthening of the naval and military forces of the United States.

A demand that in international relations the United States insist upon universal observance of the principles and rules of international law.

Denunciation of the Wilson policy toward Mexico as one of "inconsistent and irresponsible interference," and a demand for the protection of American rights in Mexico, either by a responsible Mexican government or through co-operation with other American republics.

Denunciation of the bill to grant independence to the Philippines, which has already passed the senate, as an "abandonment of the duty of this nation and a breach of trust toward the Philippines."

A demand for the "restoration of the Republican policy of a tariff commission" and for adequate measures for the quick upbuilding of an American merchant marine.

ARREST SPY AT DUPONTS

Alleged German Committed to Workhouse Pending Investigation.

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 17.—The secret service department of the Dupont Powder company is busily engaged in ferreting out all the information obtainable in regard to Antonio Hanne, the supposed spy, who was sent to the workhouse for one year, for carrying concealed a loaded revolver.

The man had been arrested by a powder company guard, who said he had been shadowing him for several days.

This guard said Mangle was working at Carney's Point, under an assumed name, and he also stated Mangle had been reporting to a German consul in Philadelphia. Mangle is said to be a German.

At the powder company's office it was stated that there is no information in regard to the apparently mysterious man that they could make public at this time.

Sunday Potato Digging, Court Problem

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 17.—The state supreme court has been asked to determine whether it is unlawful for dig potatoes on Sunday. J. R. J. H. and J. M. Harris were convicted on this charge and fined by a justice of the peace in Tucker county. They appealed to the circuit court and were again found guilty by a jury. They now have appealed to the supreme court. The men contend that they had to dig potatoes on Sunday in order to prevent the crop from freezing.

lashed two-piece skirt is shirred slightly at the waist-line.

The fashionable collar cape is artistically utilized, and the one-piece frock of striped challis in two shades of blue. About the bottom of the skirt there is a band of plain blue fabric to correspond with the cape. The deep cuffs on the sleeves are also of fabric. In medium size the dress requires 44 yards 44-inch material and the cape, which is separate, 24 yards 36-inch silk, including enough for the trimming.

Today's dressmaking lesson has to do principally with the cutting of the dress. A study of the cutting guide shows that the back and front gores of the skirt are laid on the lengthwise fold of material, with the front of the waist placed next to the front skirt gore. The cuff is laid on a lengthwise thread of material and fits nicely into the space opposite the front of the waist, the lower corner of the cuff meeting the armhole. The sleeve is also laid on a lengthwise thread. Then comes the back of the waist, on a lengthwise fold, with the collar last, on a lengthwise thread.

The neck of the dress is cut in round outline, and to do this the underbody is cut out at the neck edges on small "o" perforations. The small "o" perforations on the gores of skirt indicate the outline for making them shorter.

To cut cape avoid mistakes by laying out pattern on material in accordance with cutting guide. Place pieces with edge marked by triple "T" perforations on a lengthwise fold of material. If desired, cut off front edge of collar section J along small "o" perforations.

Trim collar with a narrow band. Sew collar to cape notches and center-backs even, close, bringing the neck edges together at center-front and roll collar.

into rolls and let them set again about half an hour or until they are very light. The length of time will depend somewhat on the temperature of the room. Bake the rolls in a quick oven brushing over with butter before baking to brown them more.

Raisin Bread.—Scald a pint of milk and beat into it a teaspoonful of melted butter and one of salt. When the mixture is lukewarm add half a yeast cake, dissolve in a half cupful of warm water, and beat in enough flour to make a good batter. Set in a warm room to rise for eight hours. Beat hard, add a cupful of flour and work in a cupful of halved raisins plentifully dredged with flour. Set to rise until light, then bake.

THE STOCKMAN.

It is important that sheep intended for slaughter should be kept off feed from twenty-four to thirty-six hours.

The man who dubbed the hog a "mortgage lifter" was posted. He knew something of the possibilities of the animal.

Do not think because a sheep has a heavy coat of wool he will be able to endure cold rains and sleep without a warm shelter.

Quiet, gentle handling of the ewes during the winter makes it much easier work to care for the flock during the lambing period.

In counting the profits from your flock do not fail to count the value of the fat lambs killed during the twelve months for the family use and the high value of all the manure.

The truth is the farmers of the middle west are raising better mutton than ever before and people are learning it is about the best and cheapest meat they can buy.

IS YOUR STOMACH CLOGGED WITH WASTE?

The People's Drug Store Guarantees to Return the Money if Mi-o-na Does Not Relieve You.

"It's a pleasure to sell a medicine when our customers come in afterward and tell us how much good it has done them," said C. Wm. Beales, the popular druggist to a Gettysburg man, "and that is why we like to sell and recommend Mi-o-na, the dyspepsia remedy. We have so much faith in this article that we are going to guarantee it in the future, and will return the money to any purchaser of Mi-o-na whom it does not help. That may seem rash but our customers have said so many good words in its favor that we do not expect to have many packages returned.

"Anyone who has dyspepsia, whose food does not digest well, and who has to take thought as to what he can eat, and when, can leave 50 cents deposit at our drug store and take home a box of Mi-o-na and if the remedy does not regulate his digestion and help his dyspepsia he can withdraw his money."

This shows great faith in the merit of Mi-o-na. It is really a most unusual medicine and the rapid increase of sales since The People's Drug Store introduced it in Gettysburg shows that it does all that it is claimed to do—relieves dyspepsia, regulates digestion and enables those who use it to eat just what they want.

A Singular Case of Resurrection

By E. A. MITCHEL.

The investigators of the Rockefeller institute may be very proud of their selves. Indeed, they have reason to be. They have substituted live part of the human body for dead parts; the have set heart substance beating on side its proper place in a man's breast.
If they keep on they may in time make a man out of parts of other men. If the stories of what Indian fakirs have done in keeping persons alive in a comatose condition for many years true these Rockefellerers or scientific fellows of whatever they are have yet much to learn from an antique and apparently undeveloped civilization.

There is a story going the round among the undergraduates of a certain university which, if it can be substituted, puts the modern scientific investigator to shame. Arnold Gereau, assistant professor of chemistry—he is in charge of the laboratory—is one of those phenomena who spring up once in a century. He is very young, and it is well known that he was born with certain mental powers, a certain supernatural knowledge of things or which many a man has studied for a lifetime without making any progress whatever.

Willbur Stockbridge, a member of the class of '15, so the story goes, one day went to Professor Gereau with a yellow bit of paper on which was written in old English style:

This is the body of William Arbuckle private in his majesty's 4th foot, Captured in the patriot lines with maps showing our fortifications on the upper part of Manhattan Island. He was condemned for a spy. An Indian serving with the same regiment—he had joined it at Singapore—promised to General Washington to put the man to sleep for an indefinite period instead of executing him. The general who was adverse to the execution, consented, and Arbuckle was turned over to the Indian, who claims that any time after-fifty or even a hundred years life will still be in the body. But not one man in many millions will be able to effect a resurrection.

Young Stockbridge told the professor that in excavating for building purposes on the upper part of Manhattan Island on property owned by his family, a tomb had been discovered containing the body of a man in British uniform of a former period. The paper had been found in the lead coffin in which the body had been buried.

Gereau—initial rest, I don't touch for this arranged with the student to bring the find to the laboratory, which at the time was closed on account of the spring recess and would therefore be at the professor's individual disposal. No one has attempted to give him process by which Gereau maintained the remains of Private Arbuckle it is claimed that he effected a resurrection. The professor avers that he worked on lines which are being followed by modern scientific investigators. He must have had an inkling of the method by which animation was suspended by the Indian or he would not have been able to restore it by reverse action, which, he says, he applied. He gives a fundamental principle that the Indian knew how to suspend, not kill the action of the heart, and Gereau restored the pulse lost, which are the basis of animal life.

Whether the story is true or false there is one part of it that fits in with modern scientific investigation. It is said that Gereau found that certain members of the body had suffered from the long suspension of their functions. The resurrected man showed signs of decay, and the professor feared that, though he had remained in an ordinary condition of health for more than 150 years, he would die within a few hours after resuscitation.

A test was begun of different organs and the first tested—the kidneys—showed decay. Gereau at once telephoned to the College of Physicians and Surgeons for a pair of sound kidneys and, removing the ones affected introduced the new ones. He supposed for some time that Arbuckle had died under the operation, but half a bottle of Irish whiskey brought him round.
The liver was next tackled, and half a bottle replaced. There were other parts to be substituted, but those mentioned were the principal requirements.

These operations required several hours, and another hour passed before Private Arbuckle spoke. Then he opened his eyes and cried out in a voice that seemed to come through distance:

"Command of the guard!"
Gereau was delighted. It looked as if he might save his patient, for which the man had doubtless been destined in good health his being brought back to consciousness was not only a difficult matter, but a dangerous one.

There are several versions of the rest of the story. Some say that Arbuckle was sufficiently restored to remember and speak of his expected execution.
Others aver that Gereau, finding his breathing defective, worked his arms vigorously, but in spite of his efforts the man died.

It is said that at one time Arbuckle sat up and was given a stiff drink.
Raising the glass he shouted in a hoarse like voice:

"To his gracious majesty King George. God bless him and confound his rebellious subjects!"

Stockbridge and Gereau have both been asked to make a statement, but have refused either to affirm or deny the story. It is suspected that they are afraid of coming under the ban of the law, which might involve them in a charge of murder.

EXPLAINS WHY MEN

ARE GROWING BALD

Thousands of men are growing bald every day and don't know the reason why. Many of them never expect to save even what hair is left.

This is indeed a pity, says a specialist because baldness usually comes from carelessness and anyone who gives the scalp a little attention should always have an abundance of good healthy hair. Dust and dirt help to cause baldness by clogging the pores in the scalp and giving the dangerous germs fertile ground for breeding.

The treatment is very simple:
Shampoo at least once in ten days and destroy the dandruff germs by applying frequently Parisian Sage, a deliciously efficient preparation that The People's Drug Store is now recommending as the surest treatment to stop falling hair to remove dandruft and to refresh and invigorate the hair roots.

The cost of a generous bottle of Parisian Sage is very little and druggists everywhere have been authorized to offer it with guarantee of perfect satisfaction or money returned.

Cross irritable people—the sort who
